

Merily Leotoots is an Estonian violinist whose work is grounded in technical precision, structural awareness, and a clear interpretive line. Her focus lies in chamber music and in repertoire that requires disciplined ensemble interaction and sustained formal clarity.

She began her studies at the Keila Music School and continued at the Tallinn Music High School under Professor Mari Tampere-Bezrodny and Sigrid Kuulmann, graduating in 2014. She completed her bachelor's and master's degrees at the Estonian Academy of Music and Theatre with Professor Tampere-Bezrodny. Further training includes periods at the Guildhall School of Music & Drama (studies with Ofer Falk) and the Musik und Kunst Privatuniversität der Stadt Wien (studies with Lidia Baich). She currently pursues private studies with Pierre Amoyal.

Her development has been supported by masterclasses with Kolja Blacher, Pavel Berman, Natalia Lomeiko, Sophia Jaffé, Petru Munteanu, and other leading pedagogues. In 2025 she was selected for the Sarasate Academy in Spain, and she has worked in Italy through the Young Classic Europe programme.

Chamber music forms the core of her artistic activity. She performs with Duo EnPassant (violin–cello), the piano trio Trio Callistó, and the piano quartet Quattuor Artium. With Quattuor Artium she appeared at the Wye Valley Chamber Music Festival (UK), giving the world premiere of Artur Lemba's Piano Quartet. Her ensemble work has been shaped by mentors including Marje Lohuaru, Evgeny Sinaisky, Matthew Jones, and Jacqueline Ross.

She also performs regularly with the Kiili Early Music Ensemble, appearing in Estonia, Spain, Greece, and Ireland, with a focus on historically-informed performance. Additional performances include engagements in France, Austria, Germany, and the United Kingdom.

Her current projects link performance with narrative structure, drawing on literary, historical, and contemporary material. Her artistic interest lies in programmes where conceptual framing and musical substance reinforce each other.
